Enclosure 881)

Memorandum

Approximate estimates only can at present be furnished.

1 The accompanying Statements show the estimated strength and probable cost of the Constabulary in each District of the Province. It is impossible to furnish strictly accurate estimates in detail without visiting each locality and consulting with the local Officers. These Estimates must therefore be considered as average Estimates only.

Proportion of Police to Population.

2. The Population of the Province is returned at nearly 4 Millions. Census returns in this Country are notoriously unreliable and therefore the above calculation must be accepted with some reserve. It is probable that the population exceeds even 4 Millions. The Estimated Force numbers 4445 (exclusive of Inspector General and Superintendents pay) and bears a proportion of one man to 857 of the population and to nearly 7 square miles of Area.

Comparative Notes

3 The requirements of the large towns, Bangalore and Mysore, render it necessary to increase the proportion of Police very materially. Rural parts require only a proportion of one Police man to 7 3/4 Square miles and to 948 of the Population. In England and Wales the proportion of Police to the population is 1 to 900 (1865) In the Metropolis and the City of London together the average (1865) is 1 to 304. In the City of London alone the [illegible] 1 to 141. in the Metropolis

In Ireland (1865) the ratio is 1 to 420 inhabitants
In Madras, exclusive of Presidency Police, the ratio is 1 to 991 of the population. The Madras Police are however confessedly overworked.

1 There are now 8115 Police Officials on the Town and Taluq Establishments exclusive of the numerous officers of the higher grades employed in executive Police duty. The entire constabulary body will not exceed 7500: the simultaneous reduction in the revenue establishment should be very great. Although such an extensive numerical reduction is proposed the organization, superior training and equipment of the smaller body will enable the reformed Police to perform efficiently all duties required for the prevention and detection of Crime.

Reduction of Present Establishment

2 The adequate remuneration and effective supervision of the Force combine to render it somewhat more expensive than the present large body, all the members of which it is to be apprehended are not employed strictly on Police duties.

Increase in cost of Police

3 The Estimate now submitted has been framed on the understanding that no man is to be borne on the rolls of the Force who is not employed in the discharge of strictly Police duties and for whom a full days work cannot be found. That all Establishment of Chuppraseers Personal Guards (exclusive of those furnished by the Local Militia Force) and orderlies not

Present Estimate provides for strictly Public Services

4 Memo by Sir Ludovic, dated August 1860.

Report to Govt. of India by Police Commission appointed in 1860.

required as revenue bailiffs and office attendants should be incorporated with the Constabulary. It is evident that the Force now estimated for is reduced within the very narrowest limits and can undertake only duties of a public nature. All personal attendants must be provided for in the Budgets of the Departments requiring such attendance. It will of course be the duty of the Superintendents of Police to see that a sufficient number of Police officers are in attendance at the Court of every Judge and Magistrate.

Analysis of

7. The entire cost is estimated at about 7 lacs; of this 6 lacs is the cost of the subordinate Constabulary Force or about Rs: 135 per man. Of the above charge 5-3 lacs or 120 Rs. per man is the charge for pay and allowances. This sum is just equal to the present charge under head of "Police". Clothing will cost 59400. Rs: Contingencies 7000. The efficient supervision and command of this Force will cost Rs. 93500. The ~~[illegible]~~ Budget

Increase to be provided for

Estimate (1866-67) on account of Police (Item 18) including present Superintendent Bangalore Police and Establishment, is about Rupees 5.47.000. leaving a balance of about Rs: 158.000. to be met by saving and revision of existing Establishments. Considering the immense relief to Administrative Officers and Taluq Establishments owing to the management of the entire Police. I see no time being unprofitably by a separate Department the increase noted above should be reduced to a nominal amount.

8. Another point deserving attention is that Town people contribute directly nothing towards either the State Revenue or the cost of Police maintained for their protection, and at the same time Towns require a much larger force in proportion to the number of inhabitants than the people residing in rural Districts. The estimated cost of Rural Police is less proportionately than one half that of Town Police. In Towns the ratio is 1 Policeman to 367 inhabitants whilst in Rural Police is estimated at 1 to 948. The cost of Town Police per head of Popn. [illegible] the whole of which charge is now borne by the State. The total municipal Fund receipts during 1865.66 amounted to Rs: 186224 of which 134537 was a contribution from Government in the shape of an assignment from Octroi and only 17000 Rs: raised by Taxes and fees. Even this small sum only represents the taxation of two places Bangalore Cantonment Rs: 16408 and Coorg Coorg (637.) The Municipalities may fairly be called on to bear a portion of the cost of their Police In the general Estimate now submitted Town Police has been provided for Bangalore Cantonment and Pettah of Mysore Coorg Coorg and Shimoga. A Statement of the cost of the Police in each place is appended. By Madras Act X of 1865 now being generally introduced in the Presidency the Government contribute 25 per cent of the total cost of the Police Force maintained under the Towns Improvement Act, thus following the precedent established in England in the Amalgamation of the Borough and County Police In the Presidency Town of Madras the Government Contribution is one twenty-fourth part of the total cost. Considering the importance of Bangalore which may be considered as the Metropolis of the Province also the peculiar nature of its population the Government might contribute one half share of the total cost.

Municipalities bound to Contribute

Proportion of contribution else where now by Govt suggested.

9. In the General Estimate the ratio for the Bangalore District appears high. in consequence of the maintenance of two large bodies of Town Police as also being the seat of Government the Head Quarter Division is necessarily stronger than that of other places. The ratio of Police in Shimoga is low and may require provision.

Explanation of high ratio in the Bangalore District.

10 The average monthly pay of each Grade is shown in the Pay Table. The pay of the 3d Class of Conservables is low and if the Municipal bodies contribute towards the Police cost of their towns a considerable sum will be set free which could not be better appropriated than towards making the 3d Class a more probationary grade granting each man passed as fit for general duty a minimum pay of Rs: 7 subject to the usual deductions. Both in England and Madras the 3d class of Constables has been abolished.

11. The charge for clothing has been calculated by crediting every man under the grade of Inspector with the full cost of a Police Constable's clothing. Any difference in material trimmings &c. distinctive of rank to be borne by individuals Rs. 7 — Clothing

12. The estimate for contingencies may require revision especially if no public buildings are likely to be made available for use as District Police Offices. — Contingencies.

13. The first charges for Ammunitions and Equipment will be about 36.000 Rupees. As Treasure and Jail Guard duties are undertaken by the local Military Force it is scarcely necessary to furnish the Police with fire arms as the Local Military Force may be considered the armed Reserve of the Country. It is proposed to keep a proportion of swords (equal to 50 per cent of the strength) at Station Houses for use when required. Ordinarily Police will carry no Arms. The small Police Cutlass is a handy and useful weapon. — First Charges Stg. Ex. Dist. D. Arms.

A truncheon will be supplied to each Constable. — Truncheons

Alarm Whistles.

Each petty Officer and each Constable of the Town Police Forces should be provided with an Alarm Whistle to enable him to summon assistance when necessary.

Handcuffs.

A small supply of European handcuffs is indispensable. The use of country wooden handcuffs should be prohibited.

Lanterns.

Town Police and Station Officers must be furnished with dark Lanterns.

Office Furniture.

Each Station must be supplied with a country desk or table and box for the safe custody of records or stolen property. The Estimate (Rupees 1000) for furniture and office fittings for the Inspector-General and Superintendents is perhaps too low. Each Division Police Officer must have a good cash chest on approved article.

Note.

The Estimates do not provide for the retention of 121 European & East Indian and Native Pensioners @ 8/ per mensem each, now charged to the Police Budgets of the Bangalore Cantonment. The majority of these men are physically unfit for any service, and beyond taking charge each of an old musket or two they render no service in return for the amount expended on them. With an organized Police these veterans should be wholly unnecessary. Their both in physique and intelligence to the ordinary pleon, and who would be of no use in case of any real Emergency. If it is considered desirable to continue the pittance as a matter of charity perhaps the charge might be transferred to some more appropriate head tha Or if the Residents of the Town imagine they derive comfort from this somewhat feeble branch of the Executive, doubtless they will not object to make the retaining fee a charge on the Municipal Funds.

It may be desirable to discontinue making any payment appertaining to this reserve.

Memorandum and Estimates of Strength and probable Cost of Revised Police Establishments in Mysore.

No. 1.]

MEMORANDUM.

1. The accompanying statements show the estimated strength and probable cost of the Constabulary in each District of the Province. It is impossible to furnish strictly accurate estimates in detail without visiting each locality and consulting with the local officers. These estimates must therefore be considered as approximate estimates only.

Approximate estimates only can at present be furnished.

2. The population of the Province is returned at nearly 4 millions. Census returns in this country are notoriously unreliable and therefore the above calculation must be accepted with some reserve. It is probable that the population exceeds even 4 millions. The estimated Force numbers 4,445 (exclusive of Inspector General and Superintendents, &c.) and bears a proportion of one man to 857·8 of the population and to nearly 7 square miles of area.

Proportion of Police to population.

3. The requirements of the large towns, Bangalore and Mysore, render it necessary to increase the proportion of Police very materially. Rural parts require only a proportion of one Policeman to 7¾ square miles and to 918 of the population. In England and Wales the proportion of Police to the population is 1 to 900 (1865). In the metropolis and the city of London together, the average (1865) is 1 to 304. In the city of London alone the average is as high as 1 to 172 inhabitants. In Ireland (1865) the ratio is 1 to 420 inhabitants. In Madras, exclusive of Presidency Police, the ratio is 1 to 991 of the population. The Madras Police are however confessedly overworked.

Comparative Notes.

4. There are now 8,115 Police officials on the Town and Talook establishments exclusive of the numerous officers of the higher grades employed in Executive Police duty. The entire constabulary body will not exceed 4500: the simultaneous reduction in the revenue establishment should be very great. Although such an extensive numerical reduction is proposed, the organization, superior training and equipment of the smaller body will enable the reformed Police to perform efficiently all duties required for the prevention and detection of crime.

Reduction of present establishment.

5. The adequate remuneration and effective supervision of the Force conspire to render it somewhat more expensive than the present large body, all the members of which it is to be apprehended, are not employed strictly on Police duties.

Some increase in cost necessary.

6. The estimate now submitted has been framed on the understanding that no man is to be borne on the rolls of the Force who is not employed in the discharge of strictly Police duties and for whom a full day's work cannot be found. "That all establishment of Chuppraseers personal guards (exclusive of those furnished by the Local Military Force and orderlies not required as revenue bailiffs and office attendants should be incorporated with the constabulary." It is evident that the Force now estimated for is reduced within the very narrowest limits and can undertake only duties of a public nature. All personal attendants must be provided for in the Budgets of the Departments requiring such attendance. It will of course be the duty of the Superintendents of Police to see that a sufficient number of Police officers are in attendance at the Court of every Judge and Magistrate.

Present estimate provides for strictly Public service only.

Memo. by Govt. of India, dated 17th August 1860.

Report to Govt. of India by Police Commission convened in 1860.

7. The entire cost is estimated at about 7 lacs; of this 6 lacs is the cost of the subordinate Constabulary Force or about Rs 135 per man. Of the above charge 5½ lacs, or 120 Rs per man, is the charge for pay and allowances. This sum is just equal to the present charge under head of "Police." Clothing will cost 59,400 Rs. Contingencies 7,000. The efficient supervision and command of this Force will cost Rs. 93,500. The Budget estimate (1866—67) on account of "Police." (Item 18) including present Superintendent Bangalore Police and Establishment, is about Rupees 5,47,000, leaving a balance of about Rs 1,58,000 to be met by saving and revision of existing Establishments. Considering the immense relief to administrative Officers and Talook Establishments owing to the management of the entire Police Executive being undertaken by a separate Department, the increase noted above should be reduced to a nominal amount.

Analysis of cost.

Increase to be provided for.

8. Another point deserving attention is that towns people contribute directly nothing towards either the State Revenue or the cost of Police maintained for their protection, and at the same time towns require a much larger force in pro portion to the number of inhabitants than the people residing in rural Districts. The estimated cost of Rural Police is less proportionately than one half that of Town Police. In Towns the ratio is 1 Policeman to 367·8 inhabitants, whilst Rural Police is estimated at 1 to 948. The cost of Town Police per head of population is 0—5—9 the whole of which charge is now borne by the State. The total Municipal Fund receipts during 1865—66 amounted to Rs. 1,86,224, of which 1,34,537 was a contribution from Government in the shape of an assignment from Octroi and only 17,000 Rs. raised by taxes and fees. Even this small sum only represents the taxation of two places, Bangalore Cantonment (Rs. 16,408) and Toomkoor (Rs. 637). The Municipalities may fairly be called on to bear a portion of the cost of their Police. In the general estimate now submitted Town Police has been provided for Bangalore (Cantonment and Pettah), Mysore, Toomkoor and Shimoga. A Statement of the cost of the Police in each place is appended. By Madras Act X of 1865, now being generally introduced in that Presidency, the Government contribute 25 per cent of the total cost of the Police Force maintained under the Towns Improvement Act, thus following the precedent established in England on the amalgamation of the Borough and County Police. In the Presidency Town of Madras the Government contribution is one twenty-fourth part of the total cost. Considering the importance of Bangalore which may be considered as the metropolis of the Province, also the peculiar nature of its population, the Government might contribute one half share of the total cost.

Appendix No. 5.

Proportion of contribution to be borne by Govt. suggested.

9. In the general estimate the ratio for the Bangalore District appears high in consequence of the maintenance of two large bodies of Town Police; as also being the seat of Government the Head Quarter Division is necessarily stronger than that of other places. The ratio of Police in Shimoga is low and may require revision.

Explanation of high ratio in the Bangalore District.

10. The average monthly pay of each grade is shown in the Pay Table. The pay of the 3rd Class of Constables is low; and if the Municipal bodies contribute towards the Police cost of their towns, a considerable sum will be set free which could not be better appropriated than towards making the 3rd Class a mere probationary grade, granting each man passed as fit for general duty a minimum pay of Rs. 7 subject to the usual deductions. Both in England and Madras the 3rd Class of Constables has been abolished.

Appendix No. 2.

11. The charge for clothing has been calculated by crediting every man under the grade of Inspector with the full cost of a Police Constable's clothing. Any difference in material trimmings, &c., distinctive of rank to be borne by individuals.

Clothing.

12. The estimate for contingencies may require revision especially if no public buildings are likely to be made available for use as District Police offices.

Contingencies.

13. The first charges for Arms, Accoutrements and Equipment, will be about 36,000 Rupees. As Treasure and Jail Guard duties are undertaken by the Local Military Force, it is scarcely necessary to furnish the Police with fire arms as the Local Military Force may be considered the armed Reserve of the country. It is proposed to keep a proportion of swords (equal to 70 per cent of the strength) at station houses for use when required. Ordinarily Police will carry no Arms. The small Police cutlass is a handy and inexpensive weapon.

First charges. Appendix No. 4. Arms.

A truncheon will be supplied to each Constable.

Truncheons.

Each petty Officer and each Constable of the Town Police Forces should be provided with an alarm whistle to enable him to summon assistance when necessary.

Alarm Whistles.

A small supply of Europe handcuffs is indispensable. The use of country wooden handcuffs should be prohibited.

Handcuffs.

Town Police and station Officers, must be furnished with dark lanterns.

Lanterns.

Each station must be supplied with a country desk or table, and box for the safe custody of records or stolen property. The estimate (Rupees 1,000) for furniture and Office fittings for the Inspector General and Superintendents is perhaps too low. Each Division Police Officer must have a good cash chest, an expensive article.

Office Furniture.

The "Beat" is the Unit.

4 Constables form a Complete ——— "Watch" = Ins: Sub Ins: Sgt Sgt 1 Cl of these 4, one will be a 1st Class Constable in charge - 2 second Class and 1 Probationer or 3rd Class - This "Watch" will undertake continuous duty for the 24 hours at any single detached post.

II. Two "Watches" constitute a ——— "Half-Party" = " Ins: Sub Ins. Sgt Sgt 1 Cl 4 Cons and will be in charge of a Sergeant. This Half-Party will undertake all patrol, escort duty &c of an outpost or detachment. —

III. 4 "Watches" or 2 Half-parties " Ins: Sub Ins - Sgt Cons Sgt Sgt 1 Cl Cons: Total

Constitute a complete Party to which an Sergeant will be attached, one attending to Patrol or detective duty, and the other supervising Watch or available for detached duty. - -

IV. When the strength comes up to 2 "Parties" or 1 "Section" the area for supervision will necessarily be considerably extended. Consequently a Superior grade of Sergeant - (Head Constable) will be required, and a small allowance granted to useful post. | No increase will be made to the strength of the "Section", but one of the most intelligent Sergeants will be appointed "Head Constable" and the most deserving Constable appointed "Acting Sergeant" in latter, drawing an Acting Allowance of Rupee 2 in addition to his pay as Constable. Thus the next arrangement will be "Head Constables Party or "Section" patrolling an area of about 250 square miles.

7. The Police of each taluq will be placed under a "Sub-Inspector" an officer corresponding to the present Killadar, and will form a "Sub-Division" consisting of 2 or more parts according to the extent of the taluq and the state of Crime. This charge will be a heavy and responsible one and the services of a highly intelligent and and reliable officer must be secured.

VII. The posting of Inspectors will necessarily require to be regulated by the nature and extent of the country to be inspected, state of Crime, disposition of the people &c but as a general rule 2 or 3 Lathis will form an Inspectors charge or ——— "Division"

III. Every man on enlistment will be considered a Probationer, and will join the Preparatory Class at Head Quarters where he will be instructed in his duties. No Officer will be allowed to join a division for general duty until he has been passed by the Superintendent as qualified. { Preparatory Class

In the rank of Constable the proportion of Probationers may be calculated at 25 per cent. They will receive only Rupees 6 per mensem.

IX. When passed for general duty they will be promoted, as vacancies occur, to the 2nd Class of Constables on Rs. 7. { Constables.

Twenty-five per cent of the strength of Constables will be 1st Class on Rs. 8.—

There will be men carefully selected for intelligence, tact and good knowledge of duty; they must be fairly Educated, competent to take charge of a Watch or small detached post. And generally be such men as are likely to be good Petty officers. Proportion of classes amongst Constables will thus be -

	1st Class	2nd Class	3rd Class Probationers	Total

X. The next grade is that of Sergeant — whose duties will be principally to supervise the daily routine. There will be a Sergeant to every 8 Constables furnishing ordinarily 6 rural beats, / Town beats must be closer and more continuous / patrolling about 50 square miles of country. The Sergeants' duties will be arduous and unremitting and on them will chiefly rest the responsibility of securing a punctual, persistent and effective performance of Beat — } Sergeants

Patrol duty &c —

Sergeants must be well acquainted with Law and procedure, both that of their own and of neighbouring provinces. They will be exposed to considerable temptation, and are entitled to liberal wages both on account of the amount of work expected from them and also the nature of that work. The ordinary pay of a Sergeant is proposed to be Rs 12/- per mensem — One in every three to be of a higher grade on Rs. 14/- This Officer (1st Class Sergeant) will be responsible not only for the work of his own Half-Party, but will also have general supervision of the work half parties to which the other lower grade Sergeants are attached —

As the working range 2 3 Head Constables becomes more extensive so must the supervision keep pace therewith, therefore to every 2 Parties of Constables / representing the patrol and observation of about ~~350~~ 250 Sq. Mls / Square miles - will be appointed an itinerant duty officer as "Head Constable" - This officer will be selected from the most active and intelligent Sergeants who have given proof of honesty, zeal, and likelihood of proving good detective officers. The "Head Constable" will be constantly moving through his section. checking the beats, supervising the Sergeants and Constables and seeking information with regard to undetected cases. He will also take steps for the detection of all Grave Crime, and

Duty of Head Constable

be responsible that cases are sent up for trial as complete as possible
He will attend preliminary Enquiries by Magistrates in Committable cases, and trials before the Superior Magistrical Courts
He will be generally responsible for the punctual Execution of all processes forwarded for execution in his Section, and must at all times be prepared to furnish his local Magistrate with reliable information. He must necessarily be a highly intelligent and trustworthy Officer, thoroughly acquainted with the provisions of the Criminal Codes and all Special and Local Laws and be also qualified to act at once on his own responsibility in an Emergency.

The pay proposed for Rs. of Head Constables this grade is Rs: 20/- per mensem and to enable the Head Constable to move freely and continuously over every part of his Section, a small allowance (Rs: 8/-) will be necessary to enable him to meet the cost of keeping a pony.

VII. Some of the Taluqs in the Mayavaram Province are too small to allow of posting an Inspector in each, and at the same time they are too large to be adequately worked by a Head Constable. To meet this an intermediate grade of Sub-Inspectors is proposed in the proportion of one to each Taluq. These Sub-Inspectors will generally represent the "Officer in charge of a Police Station" referred to in the Code of Criminal Procedure. Thus each Sub-Magistrate (Amildar) will have a responsible Superior Officer of Police stationed at his Head Quarters. A Sub. Inspector will also be in attendance at the Police Office of the Division and District Magistrate Officers as the chief executive officer of the Court.

{Pay and Allowances of Sub Inspectors}

Two grades of Sub. Inspectors are proposed in the proportion of 1/2 @ Rs. 40. and 1/2 @ Rs. 30/- per mensem Horse allowance @ Rs. 10/- per mensem will be allowed to Each Sub Inspector.

{Duties of Sub Inspectors.}

These officers will act as Deputy Inspectors in such part of the Division as may be entrusted to them (generally one Taluq) They will be constantly on the move. They will proceed at once to the scene of every grave crime and in consultation with the Head Constable and Serjeants of the Section adopt effective measures for detection and prosecution of offenders. They will also take up any cases in which the local Section

Police have failed to succeed.
They will be held responsible for the general efficiency of the Police in their Sub division; & out, investigate and sort all cases of real alleged misconduct and irregularity on the part of Police Officers with a view to closer supervision by the Di-vision Inspector or Super-intendent. The Grade will prove to be a most useful training School for intelligent men likely to turn out good Division Inspectors.

Inspector

XIII. The duties and re-sponsibilities of Inspectors are fully detailed in the "General principles". It may fairly be said that Suc-cessful work entirely hinges on the way these officers perform their duties as well as on their individual char -acter. A Division takes its whole tone from the Division Inspector and every means should be employed to secure and re-tain the services of thorough respected, active, intelligent men. Shrewd, clever, Cunning men will be found in plenty, but an Inspector must be above all suspicion honest, conscientious and courageously determined to do his duty at all hazards without being offended or overbearing in his manner.

He must have a perfect command of temper and must be thoroughly master of his profession in all its details, willing and competent to encourage and instruct all his subordinates and at the same time able at once to detect imposition and trickery.

The Inspector will generally have charge of two or three talugs averaging 400 to 700 square miles. He will lead an essentially restless life constantly itinerating.

Four grades of Inspectors are proposed on salaries ranging from 80 to 180 Rupees per mensem with a Horse Allowance of Rs: 20/- to all grades. The proportion of each class will be 1/20th 1st Class - 2/20th second class 2/20th third class and 15/20th fourth class. The proportion wall being reduced to lower the cost of the force

General Observations

The foregoing arrangements will ensure that crime when it occurs will be vigorously executed, whilst at the same time preventive exertions will in no way be delayed. If any provision is made whereby an intelligent Officer can devote his whole time and attention to a serious case, carrying with him nothing more than his note book, it will be found that Police Officers if tied to their desks, will simply manufacture reports, detail imaginary steps taken, or, if any time is found for investigation, the enquiry is of the most feeble and slipshod nature. It must be borne in mind that there is to be no separate detective branch; when an Officer has concluded his enquiries in any particular case he returns at once to ordinary preventive duty and it will be constantly impressed on every Police Officer's mind that prevention of crime is the first and most important obligation.

Serjeants.

X. The next grade is that of "Serjeant," whose duties will be principally to supervise the daily preventive routine. There will be a Serjeant to every 8 Constables, furnishing ordinarily 6 rural beats, (Town beats must be closer and more continuous) patrolling about 50 square miles of country. The Serjeants' duties will be arduous and unremitting, and on them will chiefly rest the responsibility of ensuring a punctual, persistent, and effective performance of Beat, Patrol duty, &c.

The ordinary pay of a Serjeant is proposed to be Rs. 12 per mensem. One in every three to be of a higher grade on Rs. 14. This Officer (1st Class Serjeant) will be responsible not only for the work of his own Half Party, but will also have general supervision of two more half parties to which the other lower grade Serjeants are attached.

Head Constables.

XI. As the working range becomes more extensive so must the supervision keep pace therewith, therefore to every 2 Parties (36 Constables) representing the patrol and observation of about 250 square miles will be appointed an itinerant petty officer as "Head Constable." This officer will be selected from the most active and intelligent Serjeants who have given proof of honesty, zeal, and likelihood of proving good detective officers.

Duty of Head Constable.

The "Head Constable" will be constantly moving through his Section. Checking the beats, supervising the Serjeants and Constables, and seeking information with regard to undetected cases. He will at once take steps for the detection of all grave crime, and be responsible that cases are sent up for trial as complete as possible. He must necessarily be a highly intelligent and trustworthy officer, thoroughly acquainted with the provisions of the Criminal Codes and all Special and Local Laws, and be also qualified to act at once on his own responsibility in an emergency.

Pay of Head Constables.

The pay proposed for this grade is Rs. 20 per mensem, and to enable the Head Constable to move freely and continuously over every part of his Section; a small allowance (Rs. 8) will l necessary to enable him to meet the cost of keeping a pony.

XII. Some of the Taluqs in the Mysore Province are t small to allow of posting an Inspector in each, and at the sam time they are too large to be adequately worked by a Hea Constable. To meet this, an intermediate grade of Sub-Inspect is proposed in the proportion of one to each Taluq. These Sul Inspectors will generally represent the "Officer in charge of Police Station" referred to in the Code of Criminal Procedur Thus each Sub-Magistrate (Amildar) will have a responsibl Superior Officer of Police stationed at his Head Quarters. A Sub-Inspector will also be in attendance at the Courts of the Division and District Judicial officers as the Chief Executive officer of the Court.

Pay and allowances of Sub-Inspectors.

Two grades of Sub-Inspectors are proposed in the proportion of ½ at Rs. 40 and ½ at Rs. 30 per mensem. Horse allowance at Rs. 10 per mensem will be allowed to each Sub-Inspector.

Duties of Sub-Inspectors.

These officers will act as Deputy Inspectors in such part of the Division as may be entrusted to them (generally one Taluq). They will be constantly on the move. They will proceed at once to the scene of every grave crime, and, in concert with the Head Constable and Serjeants of the Section, adopt effective measures for detection and prosecution of the offenders. They will also take up any cases in which the Local Section Police have failed to succeed.

They will be held responsible for the general efficiency of ivision; seek out, investigate, and alleged misconduct and irregularity on the part of Police officers, with a view to closer enquiry by the Division Inspector or Superintendent. This grade will prove to be a most useful Training School for intelligent men likely to turn out good Division Inspectors.

Four grades of Inspectors are proposed on salaries ranging from 80 to 180 Rupees per mensem, with a horse allowance of Rs. 20 to all grades. The proportion of each class will be 1-20th 1st class, 2-20th second class, 2-20th third class, and 15-20th fourth class. The proportion of the higher class is very small, being reduced to lower the cost of the Force.

The foregoing arrangements will ensure that crime when it occurs will be vigorously prosecuted, whilst at the same time preventive exertions will in no way be relaxed. If no provision is made whereby an intelligent officer can devote his whole time and attention to a serious case, carrying with him nothing more than his note book, it will be found that Police Officers tied to their desks, will simply manufacture reports, detail imaginary steps taken, or, if any time is found for investigation, the enquiry is of the most feeble and slip-shod nature.
